WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, March 18, 1905.

Editor Press:—

Senator Morgan of Alabama laid bare in the Senate Thursday the details of a plot which the Democrats describe as sensational regarding Santo Domingan affairs. He held the floor of the Senate all day and went into minute details regarding the alleged scheme of William Nelson Cromwell of New York to make the United States a party to the treaty by which private citizens would obtain certain valuable concessions, in Santo Domingo, and which without the guarantee of this country would be worthless. Mr. Morgan asserted that the plot had been revealed to him by Mrs. Reeder a young woman from Alabama who with her husband had been operating as international speculators and whose business consisted in obtaining concessions in the South American Republic for railroads, power plants, etc. Mr. Morgan alluded several times to a "treaty" between the United States and Santo Domingo which had been drawn for the benefit of the Reeders but finally when it had been called for and read to the Senate the Republicans of that body declared that the whole disclosure was a fiasco and that Mr. Cromwell, who is alleged had operated with the Reeders, was a man of the highest moral and financial standing. Mr. Morgan, nevertheless maintained that if an investigation were made it would disclose the fact that Mr. Cromwell had grants for all concessions of any cousequence in Santo Domingo and that it was he who would be found responsible for all of the influence in favor the United States taking charge of the finances of that country and thus making good his grants.

In any case and whether or not Mr. Morgan was justified in his revelation of a plot against this government the Santo Domingan treaty is dead and beyond power of revival at this session. Dispute the fact that there were not enough votes to ratify it there was a reassembling of the Republicans who had left for their homes. Senators Lodge, Kittridge and Senator Dolliver were back in their seats Thursday and Senator Lodge was ready with a speech in support of the treaty but he could not get the floor. Is is thought that nothing can be accomplished by prolonging the session of the Senate and it is probable that when this letter reaches you the Senators will have folded their tents.

The triennial convention of the Mothers Congress held in Washington has come to a close and by Sunday all of these National Mothers will have returned to their homes again and become for the most part just plain, ordinary mothers again. A number of them have decided to remain over in Washington until in April when the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their annual congress for many of the Mothers are also Daughters and the Capital will thus not be deprived entirely of the spiritual influence and protection of these women organized as soctieties for the prevention and promotion of everything.

The sessions of the Mothers Congress here have been most successful. A number of speakers of National reputation have addressed them, the feature of course of the Congress being the address of President Roosevelt which has been quoted broadcast in this country and Europe. The French and German Ambassadors and the Japanese Minister have addressed the convention and given descriptions of the conditions affecting children in their contries.

A Dinner Invitation.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of Indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Risings, Bad Breadth and all stomach troubles. N. Watkins, Lesbus, Ky., says: "I can testify to the efficacy of Kodol in the cure of Stomach Trouble. I was afflicted with Stomach Trouble for fifteen years and have taken six bottles of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which has entirely cured me. The six bottles were worth $1,000 to me." Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Cremated.

John Gartsee died on March 9th at his home in Dryden, N. Y., of rheumatic gout, aged 66 years. Mr. Gartsee, at one time, resided in the East end and will probably be remembered by some of our town people. At his own request his remains were taken to Buffalo and cremated.

Rural Carriers Read.

"Rural carriers and other employees of the Postal service are prohibited from divulging information relative to mail matter coming into their hands to others than the addressees.

Signed, C. A. CONRARD."

Acting Fourth Assistant Postmaster General.

Hand Cut.

While at work in C. B. Howard Co.'s mill last Saturday morning, Hilgar Herngrist met with a painful accident. The young man was at work on the carriage when the band saw broke, a piece striking him on the right hand, lacerating three of his fingers.

Took a Cold Bath.

William Dalrymple, who delivers the daily papers for H. S. Lloyd, took a cold bath last Saturday, while crossing the grist mill dam, the ice breaking and dropping him into the deep water. He swam to a place of safety, fished out his papers and made his delivery just the same.

Bright Prospects.

Mr. Green, mining engineer at Cameron mines, makes a very flattering report of the coal possibilities. Over 250 tons of coal are now being mined daily and it will soon reach 500 tons. Most of the 100 coke ovens are doing business and coke equal to the best is being turned out. Cameron mines will long furnish coal in abundance.

Emmanuel Church.

The Rev. John H. Fairlie, Rector of St. Joseph's Church, Port Allegany, will be in in charge of the services at Emmanuel Church next Sunday, March 26th, exchanging witn the Rev. Mr. Robertson. The services: 7:30 a. m., Holy Communion; 10:30 a. m.. Morning Prayer, Litany and Sermon; 7:30 p. m , Evening Prayer and Sermon.

On Wednesday evening, March 29th. the Rev. Percy L. Donaghay, of Du-Bois, will be in charge of the service. This service will be held in the church.

In the Parade.

As this is the time of the year when everyone does more or less repairing, painting or paper hanging, I will cheerfully furnish estimates on all contract painting. Have this season's (1905) wall paper sample books (one of the best manufactured, bar none) containing over 2,000 of the latest shades and patterns of samples rangeing from two cents to $1.50 per roll. Will give the best of satisfaction in all work entrusted to me, Call on or drop postal.

J. W. CLARKE, I. O. O. F. Block.

Knights Templar Conclave.

The fifty-second Conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania will meet at Williamsport, May 22-23-24th. Knapp Commandery, Ridgway, of which many Cameron county Masonic brethern are members, will attend in a body. Sleeping cars have been chartered for the occasion. Cameron county brethern will join the train Monday evening, 22d, returning either Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. An effort is being made to have Knapp turn out one hundred members.

Young Lady Held Up.

Last Thursday evening, while Miss Fannie Kelly was going to her home on Chestnut street, after closing her store for the night, she was attacked by an unknown man just as she was approaching the old engine house, now occupied by Mrs. Kautz. Undoubtedly the scoundrel knew she had the day's sales in her possession and would make a good haul. When the whelp caught hold of the lady she screamed, which brought Mrs. Kautz to the door. The highwayman made his escape without being detected. Chief Mundy believes he has the chap spotted.

Blood Poison.

Chas. J. Howard has been having a serious time during the past week, occasioned by pushing a large sliver of wood into the index finger of his left hand. Blood poison set in and caused some alarm. He is resting easier now.

An Offer to the School Children.

On Saturdays I will make to the school children one dozen of my $3.00 photographs for $2.00 per dozen. I only have fifty dozen of these cards that I will dispose of at this price so come early.

That Easter Suit.

Now is the time to think of your Easter suit. Let me help you think. Gunzberg, at New Warner, Saturday, March 25th.

A Destructive Fire.

To draw the fire out of a burn, or heal a cut without leaving a scar, use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A specific for piles. Get the genuine. J. L. Tucker, editor of the Harmonizer, Centre, Ala., writes: "I have used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve in my family for Piles, cuts and burns. It is the best salve on the market. Every family should keep it on hand." Sold by R. C. Dodson.

The Observer.

It seems that a remark in this column two weeks ago regarding the recent Sunday School Institute has been misunderstood. The Observer did not intend to convey the impression that he went to the meetings fearing that an emotional crusade upon the children would then and there be in progress, but only that he feared the Institute would be used to lay stress upon the importance of such a method As has been already said, this fear proved to be groundless. All that the Observer heard at the Institute, both in matter and in spirit, was in harmony with the assumption that the children of our Sunday schools are the lambs of Christ's flock, and not little heathen or worldings; and that their entrance into Christian manhood and womanhood should be sought through processes of normal spiritual development rather than in a sudden and violent change.

In this connection the Observer would like to call attention to an asaspect of religion which has been too often overlooked or undervalued. The common view of religion is that it is something exclusively redemptive and remedial in its nature. At least, the common view takes account only of this aspect of religion. It seems to be assumed that only in so far as men are spiritually diseased or dead have they any need of the religion of Christ; that if "man's first disobedience" had never been enacted, humanity would be so spiritually hale and strong as to be able to dispense with religion.

The profounder view sees in religion the essential and fundamental condition of all normal human life, wholly irrespective of the question of human sinlessness or sinfulness. The "strong men" who hold themselves aloof from the churches, seem to have the idea that strong, masterful, aggressive natures have no need of religion. They are not wholly to be blamed for this assumption, for they have always been accustomed to having religion presented to them only under its remedial aspect. They have the impression—and are not wholly to be blamed therefor—that religion is only for the weak, the shrinking, the fallen. The Observer would not for one moment be understood as depreciating the redemptive and remedial aspect of the religion of Christ, but he thinks that tremendous good would be accomplished if a heavy emphasis were to be placed upon religion as the essential condition of all normal human life. Christ is in deed the Great Physician—to our great and endless comfort, but He is something more than that. He is the Bread of Life. He is medicine for the sick, but He is something more than that He is the spiritual food of humanity, aside from any question of health or sickness. No one is so strong and hale that he can dispense with eating and breathing. In the spiritual sphere no one can be so strong and hale as to be able to dispense with God, who is the food and breath of the soul.

If this fundamental aspect of religion were to be emphasized more strongly and steadily than it is, much of the prevalent recoil against religion might be averted. The churchless "strong men" would not feel towards religion as they do, had they been accustomed from childhood to hearing religion presented as an essential element of normal human experience. And this profounder view of the nature of religon will enable us to see in conversion, not a magical extraneous effect, but a normal and necessary point in the gradual unfolding of the wonderful life within.

Some may see in the last statement a denial of the presence and activity of the Divine Spirit. In reality it implies the fullest recognition of the influence and power of God.

Rev. Oliver S. Metzler.

The above named talented gentleman, who has very acceptably filled the position of Pastor of First Methodist Episcopal Church, at this place during the past five years, departed for annual Conference at Berwick, Pa., Wednesday noon. Although the official board of Emporium church unanimously requested the return of their able and energetic Pastor it is not yet known whether their petition will be granted inasmuch as other influential churches have laid claim to his services, especially Chambersburg, Pa., a star location. Rev. Metzler has labored zealously in the upbuilding of the Emporium Church and with his eloquence has always filled the pulpit with credit and honor. Should fate decree that Brother Metzler shall leave Emporium it will be a long while before another equally as able will take his place in the hearts of his Emporium friends and admirers. They are counted by the score, not alone in the Methodist Church, but thoughout the entire county.

Another Coal Mine Horror,

CHARLESTOWN, W. VA., March 20.—As a result of the horible explosion in the Rush Run and Red Ash mines near Thurmond, 24 men now lie stark in death in the two mines. Ten of these were killed in the explosion Saturday night, and the other 14 were a rescuing party who entered the mine Sunday morning to take from the mines the charred and blackened remains of their fellow workmen. These latter were killed by a second explosion and the after damp.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

MCNAMARA.

MISS SARAH MARGARET FRANCES MCNAMARA, aged two years and nine months, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. McNamara, of Connellsville, Pa., was taken suddenly ill last Friday, while visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burke, on Fourth street. Medical assistance was promptly called but death had claimed the remarkably bright child and it passed away Saturday morning at 10:35 The funeral was held from the residence of of Mr.and Mrs. Burke on Monday afternoon, Rev. Father Downey officiating. Mrs. McNamara (nee Katie Burke) had been visiting her old home since last November and the sad affliction was a terrible shock to her, and doubly so to the father, who arrived here after the death of his beloved daughter.

The family desires the PRESS to extend their thanks to all friends and neighbors for the kindness and attention shown them during their affliction.

CORMYA.

FRANK H. CORYMA, aged 59 years and 12 weeks, died at Corry, Pa., Hospital, Saturday, March 18th, after a long illness, having been an invalid for three years. Mr. Cormya was for many years a resident of Emporium and enjoyed the respect of our citizens. He left here about ten years ago and for a time resided at Kane, when his health failed him. The remains arrived here Saturday evening, the funeral being held from the Presbyterian Church, on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. McCaslin conducting the services. The congregation was composed mostly of old friends of the deceased. His daughters, Mrs Mabel McInnis, of Corry. and Mrs. Lena Linsell, of Wilcox, accompanied by their husbands, and Mr and Mrs. John Givin, Kane, were in attendance at the funeral.

COLE.

MRS. SARAH ANN COLE, of Mason Hill, aged 65 years and three days, died at her home March 11th after suffering for seven years of rheumatism, being most of the time confined to her bed. The funeral services were conducted at the school house, by Rev. Ebersole. After services, Director Rishell, of Emporium, took charge of the body.

The deceased leaves four daughters and one son. Two daughters, Mrs. S. R. Lindsley and Mrs. John Leonard, and son, Frank being present at the funeral. The bereaved children have the sympathy of the entire community.

X

ARTHUR.

MRS. HANNAH ARTHUR, aged 85, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Geary, East Emporium, on Saturday. Funeral services, were held at St. Marks' church, Tuesday morning, after which the remains were taken to Kane, where deceased had formerly resided. Since coming to Emporium, three years ago. to make her home with her daughter she has been in a feeble condition. Three sisters and a grand-child came from Oil City to pay their respects to the deceased.

HOOKER.

MRS KATHERINE CHAPIN HOOKER, many years ago a resident of Emporium, died at Jefferson, Kansas, March 10th She was in her 70th year and was the last of four sisters—Mrs. R. Sartwell, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. S. C. Hyde.

EVANS.

CARL, grand-son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Evans, aged three months, died March 17th, 1905. Funeral took place Sunday afternoon, Rev. O. S. Metzler, Pastor of Methodist Episcopal Church officiating.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

100 bushels of potatoes at Balcom & Lloyd's at 50 cents per bushel.

A three act comedy, "That Rascal Pat," by home talent will be held in Brooks Hall, Sterling Run, March 24, 1905. Doors open at 7:30; performance at 8 o'clock sharp. An oyster supper follows the play.

A young lady has originated a scheme by which she may ask her callers to leave without offending them. A sign typewritten hangs in a conspicuous place in the library: "All men under twenty-five years of age, must leave at 10:00 p. m.; all older 10:30"—Can any Emporium girl suggest anything more diplomatic?

LaBar has his new brick block completed now and it is a beauty—full of fine furniture, carpets, linoleums, lace curtains, portiers, rugs, big or little, dinner sets, toilet sets, in fact everything that goes to make up a first class furniture store. Call and look it over. No trouble to show you around. 4-4t

A Kane man who has kept an accurate account of the snow fall for the past nineteen years, stated that he had a place about 10 feet square where the wind could not blow the snow into piles, and that every fall of snow was measured and then the space swept clean. In this manner a very correct measurement is obtained. With the last fall of 9 inches of snow there has been a total fall of 119 inches on the mountain top. —Kane Republican.

"Ora et Labora" in last weeks Independent displays an amazing mastery of logic. The misuse of certain amusements, we are told, is analogous to the misuse of language. One never can tell where the misuse begins or where it will end. Therefore, to be on the safe side, we should cut out these amusements altogether. The logical inference is that we should also abstain wholly from speech.

25th Anniversary.

Mrs. E. E. Forbes entertained a number of her lady friends last Saturday afternoon, in honor of the 25th anniversary of her marriage.

Social and Supper.

The young ladies of Cameron will serve supper in the Hall next Friday evening. March 24. Come, eat, and have a social time.

Explosion Kills Fifty.

A boiler in R. B. Grover's shoe factory at Brocton, Mass., exploded last Monday, wrecking the large building in which were employed 400 people, at least 200 of whom were burried in the wreck At least fifty were either killed or burned to death.

The April McClure's.

McClure's for April tempts extravagant praise. Articles of world-wide scope, sound, pertinent, going deeply into great affairs; fairly teem in its pages, crowding close with a goodly list of bright, diverting fiction. They go into many fields of human activities, and there is equal diversity among the stories It is a number that carries breathless interest.

Preaching Notice.

Owing to the heavy rain storm last Saturday evening and Sunday, the preaching service for More Hill and Beechwood was posponed. They will occur as follows: Beechwood, Saturday evening, April 1st, at 7:30 o'clock; Sunday April 2, West Creek, 10:30 a. m.; Cameron 3 p m ; and More Hill at 7:30 in the evening.

Republican Convention.

The attention of the Republican voters of Cameron county is directed to the call issued by the Republican party for the Primary election and County Convention, published in another column. It is hoped and desired by all good Republicans and well wishes for the best interests of the tax-payers, that only the best men be placed in nomination. The following offices are to be filled this fall: Delegate to Republican State Convention, Sheriff, three County Commissioners and two County Auditors. Every Republican should make an effort to nominate a strong ticket, one that will command the united support of the party, now thoroughly in harmony. There is no reason why the entire Republican ticket should not be elected.

Live Longer by Attending Shows.

A leading writer in the London Lancet, a medical publication of the highest repute published in London, England contends that people who attend shows and various other entertainments, on the aggregate, live from five to ten years longer than people who refrain from enjoyment obtained in this way. In 1,000 cases of insanity and crime, 837 patients of the former and 903 of the latter had rarely, if ever, visited the theatre. The writer, continuing, claims that an afternoon or evening spent at the theatre is better than a dose of medicine for those who are suffering from any nervovs disorder. The argument of this gentleman, if one would stop to think, is not only plausible but quite probable. It certainly is a diversion for the overworked mind and of necessity must be productive of good results.

THE EDITOR'S MAIL.

Here's a card from Podunk Station
And another from Kalamzoo;
Here's a letter postmarked Pikeville,
While Jane's Crossing sends in two;
A West Virginia blacksmith,
Has necrosis of the bone;
We must tell him how to cure it—
Or our heart is made of stone.
A woman out in Kansas says,
"If you have time enough,
I wish you'd kindly tell me
How to make a good cream puff?"
And then she adds a postscript,
And sweetly asks us how
She can stop the flow of mucus
From the nostrils of her cow.
A girl down in Kentucky
Writes that she would like to know
Who's the author of a poem
Which dilates upon the snow;
And a man in North Carolina
Has an old red cow that jumps,
While his neighbor, Silas Perkins,
Owns a pig that has the thumps;
Would the editor please elucidate
Upon the cause, and why?—
"Also give a good description
Of the dipper in the sky."
Here's a girl who wants a story
Of the Colossus of Rhodes,
And her brother sends a query
About the warts on slimy toads.
Mrs. Ebenezer Johnson's chickens
Have something called the roup,
And her neighbor's little children
Are afflicted with the croup;
A man in South Dakota
Wants to know if we can tell
What General Sherman really meant
When he said that war is hell;
A Pennsylvania farmer has
A calf that chews its tail—
And thus you have an idea
Of the weekly editor's mail.

Letter to L. K. Huntington.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: Some think we take a good deal of risk in inviting complaints of Devoe lead-and-zinc—we authorize our agent to sell it under this guarantee.

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or here after in the wear, tell your dealer about it.

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

The following story tells how little the risk is:

J. H. Asher & Co., hardware dealers, Rhinebeck, N. Y., have sold Devoe from '76 to now; have sold thousands of gallons and have had just one complaint in all this time.

Three sides of the house were perfect, the fourth was as bad as the three were good.

Explanation—It rained the night before the fourth side was painted, and the painters didn't wait for the wood to dry.

What is done in such a case? Whatever the dealer, who sold the paint, considers it fair to do. We leave it to him. He may not do exactly what we should do if we were there; but we are not there. The best we can do is to leave it to him.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & CO.,
New York.

P. S. Murry & Coppersmith sell our paint.

Awful Cost of War.

A comparative estimate of the losses of Russia and Japan in the first year of the war is given in a recent issue of the London Daily Mail. The total casualty list on both sides is set down at 240,000, of whom 40,000 were killed or drowned at sea, irrespective of those who died of disease or privation or were taken prisoners. The figures for the Manchurian campaign are given as 57,250 Japanese and 111,000 Russians killed and wounded, the prisoners being estimated at 600 and 3,483, respectively. In the Port Arthur operations 55,900 Japanese and 11,400 Russians were killed or wounded, and 32,000 Russians captured. In addition to this, 1,799 Japanese and 2,527 Russians were lost at sea. Of superior officers, the Russians have lost eight generals (including Count Keller and Gen. Kondrachenko) and one admiral, while eight generals and four admirals surrendered at Port Arthur. So far as is known the Japanese have only lost two generals. In regard to material, the Russians have lost 820 guns, seven battleships, 13 cruisers and a quantity of other vessels of a total value of £16,500,000, while the Japanese have lost 15 guns, one battleship, four protected cruisers and two coast-defense ships. Finally, the total cost of the war is estimated at £160,000,000, of which £107,000,000 falls to Russia. The figures are tremendous, and it is difficult to read them without a certain sense of shame at the way in which our trifling losses during the Boer war were written and talked about. Our excuse must, we suppose, be that minor operations often cause more pain to patients than those which are great and serious.

Electrical Executions.

Thomas A. Edison was recently asked if he had invented the apparatus used for the elocution of murderers in New York and Ohio. "I did not," he said, "and I am sorry that electricity has been put to such a use. Of course that is the most painless method of putting anyone to death. There is a sensation of a moment only—as quick as the bat of an eye. But in that second there is pain indescribable. The flash comes and shock; it is ten times more excruciating than the feeling that results from one's placing his hands on live coals. It is a burning, devilish, harrowing feeling. Imagine the quick thrusting of 10,000 hot needle points into the body at one time and you may have a faint idea of the shock when the current is turned on." Mr. Edison is opposed to capital punishment, holding that murderers should be locked up and put to work for life. Indeed, he thinks that this would be greater punishment than killing them.

Human Sponges.

The manager of a large dress-making establishment in New York says: "I suppose that the most un-American immigrants we get in this country are not the Chinese or the Poles or the Hungarians, but the Parisian seamstresses, milliners and lingerie-workers. These women come here to save the price of a 'dot' out of our high American wages. It takes from two to five years to do that. In all that time they never mix with Americans, never visit a theater, never make the first attempt to learn the language. Some of them go to the French church on Sundays; otherwise they never leave their rooms except to shop. This prenuptial period in New York is just a time dropped out of their lives. They talk of nothing day after day but what they'll do when they get back to Paris and begin to live again."

The seriousness of fire losses in the United States becomes conspicuous as one gets down to details. Here is an interesting comparison: The revenue of the state of Maine in 1903 was, in round numbers, $2,550,000; the damage done by fires in the state during that year is estimated at $5,000 more than that sum, without taking into account the destruction by forest fires, which would have added more than $1,000,000 on the wrong side. Doubtless almost any other state would make quite as bad a showing; but such figures, wheresoever found, are full of suggestion.

FULFILLS AGREEMENT

James H. Peabody Resigns as Governor of Colorado After a One-Day Term.

McDONALD TAKES OFFICE

The Lieutenant Governor Is Sworn In as Governor—Inside of 24 Hours Colorado Had Three Executives.

Denver, March 18.—The bargain made by leaders of the opposing republican factions of Coloradoo to take the governor's chair from Alva Adams and to seat in it Lieut. Gov. Jesse F. McDonald after permitting James H. Peabody to hold it for one day, was carried to a conclusion late Friday afternoon.

In fulfillment of the agreement which he made before the general assembly decided the gubernatorial contest in his favor, Gov. Peabody resigned the office in which he was inaugurated late Thursday afternoon. His resignation, of which W. S. Boynton, of Colorado Springs, had been custodian since Wednesday, when it was written, was filed in the office of the secretary of state at 4:20 p. m.

James Cowie, secretary of state, immediately certified Gov. Peabody's resignation, and Gov. McDonald was then sworn in as governor by Chief Justice Gabbert. There was no further ceremony. Gov. Adams was ousted and Gov. Peabody installed by the general assembly about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and Gov McDonald was sworn in before 5 p. m. Friday.

WILL HURT PAPER TRUST

Members of the Newspaper Publishers' Association Engage in a New Enterprise.

Augusta, Me., March 18.—Articles were filed Friday with the secretary of state for the incorporation of the Publishers' Paper Co., with a capital stock of $6,000,000.

The purposes of the corporation are varied, but as outlined in the papers are mainly to acquire the rights, assets, franchises and property of the Eastern Timber Co., of Bar Mills, Me., formed from the reorganization of the White Mountain Paper Co., capital $25,000,000, for which in July, 1903, a receiver was appointed by the courts.

It is understood that many of the members of the American Newspaper Publishers' association are interested in the new company and that ultimately the corporation will furnish paper for the leading newspapers of the United States.

It is understood that the company will take over at once 300,000 acres of wood land in New Hampshire and Maine and upon the foundations already laid at Portsmouth, construct a paper mill.

WEEKLY TRADE BULLETIN

Good Reports Come from Nearly All Branches of Business.

New York, March 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Higher temperature is still needed to bring out full spring activity at many points, but improvement is discerned in almost all departments. A good boating stage has produced large coal shipments at Pittsburg and the movement of coke from connellsville eclipses all previous records.

Good progress is noted in conditions at pig iron furnaces and steel mills.

Failures this week numbered 250 in the United States, against 229 last year, and 26 in Canada, compared with 21 a year ago.

The Japanese Do Not Pause.

St. Petersburg, March 18.—Decided anxiety is felt here regarding the fate of the army in Manchuria under its new commander, no news of military developments the last two days having been received here. The only dispatches from the front are the brief announcements yesterday that Gen. Linevitch had assumed command and that Gen. Kuropatkin was departing for St. Petersburg. No pause in the Japanese advance is probable for some time. Russians are losing heavily in the rear guard actions, and Japanese the rear guard actions.

Met a Frightful Death.

Pittsburg, March 18.—Master Mechanic Lewis Watson, of the blast furnace department of the Clarion Steel Co., met a horrible death last night in an attempt to save the company's property. When an oil line with 500 pounds pressure burst and set fire to the cast house, Watson went into the building to try to shut off the flow. In a moment he was drenched with oil. His eyes were burned out, and staggering to the front of the building he fell to the ground, fracturing his skull.

Gen. Hawley Dies.

Washington, March 18.—Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut, who on March 4 retired from the United States senate after 24 years' service in that body, died here last night, aged 79 years. He had a brilliant record as a commander during the civil war.

Shot His Wife's Assailant.

Paris, Ill., March 18.—Elbert Wright, a wealthy farmer of Horace, five miles north of here, whose wife was assaulted Saturday, yesterday shot and seriously wounded Peter Bassett, whom he tied in a buggy and delivered to the officers here. Bassett, the police say, confessed the crime.

Brothers Killed In a Mine.

Dubois, Pa., March 18.—Two men were killed by an explosion of gas in the Pittsburg Coal and Iron Co.'s mine at Sykesville Friday. The dead: Anthony and Enos Gauslovich. The two were brothers.

GAVE PRAISE TO THE IRISH

President Roosevelt Attends a St. Patrick's Day Banquet in New York City.

New York, March 18.—President Roosevelt was the guest of honor last night at the 121st annual dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. He was accorded a flattering ovation by more than 600 members of the society and its guests and responded in a notable address in which he gave much praise to the achievements of the Irish in America.

The banquet was given in the golden dining hall at Delmonico's and its annex and both rooms were filled to their capacity. So great was the demand for tickets that the society was obliged to refuse more than 2,000 applications.

Both the main banquet hall and the annex were beautifully decorated with festoons of the stars and stripes, into which was woven the green and gold flag of Erin.

Imediately back of and above the seat of the president were the Gaelic words "Cead Mille Failte" in letters of fire, signifying "a thousand welcomes."

To the right and left of the guests' table were fine medallions of Washington and Roosevelt, illuminated by unique electric effects.

While in the city President Roosevelt attended the marriage of his niece, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, to her cousin, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, son of Mrs. James Roosevelt.

A CHIP ON HIS SHOULDER

Venezuela's President Has an Idea that His Soldiers Can Conquer Uncle Sam.

Willemstad, Island of Curacoa, March 17.—According to trustworthy advices received here the situation in Venezuela is unchanged, except that the relations between President Castro and the various legations at Caracas are a little more strained. Castro has now ceased to talk with the European representatives concerning the Venezuelan indebtedness and the recent recall of Gen. Velutini, second vice president of Venezuela, who has been in Europe for some time endeavoring to arrange for a settlement with the British and German bondholders, is regarded as an indication that the negotiations have failed.

Castro's attitude is reflected in a pamphlet just issued by one of his advisers, Col. Lamede, in which plans for sending 30,000 Venezuelans against New Orleans are disclosed. The pamphlet urges the public to avenge the insults offered to Venezuela by the Americans and declares that the invasion of the Mississippi valley would be the most effective means of curbing the power of the United States.

RUSSIANS SUSTAIN REVERSE

Tie Pass Is Now in Possession of the Japanese — Kuropatkin's Troops in the Mountains.

London, March 17.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Times gives unconfirmed reports that the Russians sustained a severe reverse at Tie Pass, involving the abandonment of their remaining artillery, and that the Japanese have cut the railway north of Changtufu, 40 miles above Tie Pass.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—It is officially announced that Gen. Kuropatkin will be replaced by Gen. Linevitch as commander-in-chief of the Manchurian army.

Tokio, March 17.—Tie Pass, which was held by about a division of Russian troops, is now in possession of the Japanese.

Gen. Kuropatkin and the remnants of the army which was defeated by the Japanese on the Shakhe and Hun rivers and again around Mukden and Tie Pass, are now in the mountains.

A Postmaster Burns His Store.

Pittsburg, March 17.—John F. Johannishon, aged 24, postmaster at Mutzig, terrorized Spring Garden borough yesterday and was arrested only after a hard struggle. The young man, who has had the postoffice in his grocery store for some time, took it into his head to demolish everything in sight and to this end after doing other damage, poured oil over the floor of his store and then rolling a barrel of oil into the middle of the room set fire to it. Much of the store stock was destroyed and it is is thought mail and government property were burned.

Turks and Bulgarians in a Battle.

Salonica, European Turkey, March 17.—The report that Apostol, the notorious Bulgarian leader, has been killed is confirmed. A sharp engagement took place Tuesday between 500 Turkish infantry and cavalry and a strong band of Bulgarians at the village of Smola. The Bulgarians were defeated with the loss of 42 killed, including Apostol. The Turks lost three men killed and had eight wounded.

Passenger Train Jumped the Track.

Elkton, Md., March 17.—The New York and Washington limited express, No. 46, northbound on the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington railroad, was wrecked yesterday at North East while running at a high rate of speed. Fortunately no one was seriously injured, but that many were not killed and injured is almost a miracle.

Sold for a Million.

Hartford, Conn., March 17.—The Hartford Machine Screw Co.'s business and plants in this city and in Elyria, O., have been sold to the Standard Screw Co., of Detroit, Mich. The Hartford concern is capitalized at $500,000 and it is understood that the sale price approaches $1,000,000.

Weavers Strike.

Fall River, Mass., March 17.—Two hundred weavers in Stafford cotton mills Nos. 1 and 3 struck yesterday as a protest against the ten-loom system and other innovations which have been introduced by the corporation.

CLOTHES AND THE WOMAN

An Illustrative Instance of the Acquirement of Wealth Without Refinement.

She was a stout, pleasant-faced lady, and her diamond earrings, her handsome lace collar—worn over a shirtwaist—her much beflowered hat, indicated prosperity. Her speech indicated that the prosperity had not come down to her from a line of Vere de Vere ancestors, but was a matter of recent acquisition, relates the Chicago Inter Ocean.

"Yes," she was saying confidentially to the woman beside her, "I'm goin' to meet Loula Mae down in town an' go with her to get her gradjuation gown fit on. I know I allus feel so funny when I says 'gown' for 'dress,' but Loula Mae says that's what everybody says nowadays, an' I suppose she knows; but land sakes, that's what we uster allus call our nighties. Loula Mae's gradjuation gown it's goin' to be real lovely—it's of muslin de soir, with a berthy of real lace. I seen some lace that I really thought was much handsomer, but this cost a lot more, an' so I told Loula Mae we'd better pick on that. Loula Mae she's very bright—yes'm, she's very bright, indeed. She's through with the grade schools now—or she will be soon as she gradjuates—'n her paw'n me was talking the other night, an' just about concluded that we wouldn't send her to the high school at all—we'd just send her right on to some cemetery. Yes'm, I think it would be just as well to get her into some good cemetery right away."

And then the car shot on, and so did Loula Mae's mother.

New Equipment for the Rock Island

It has been announced that to provide for the increased volume of traffic on Rock Island lines, a large amount of new equipment will be delivered, during the month of March, on orders placed several months ago. It is indicative of the industrial and commercial prosperity of Rock Island states that, even before the receipt of the new equipment, it has been found necessary to place another large order for delivery in the early summer.

The rolling stock which will be placed in service this month includes 20 new pattern passenger cars from the Pullman shops, which embody so many comfort-contributing devices that they make a distinct advance in day passenger equipment. Ten of the cars will be 70-foot chair cars, furnished with 64 twin reclining chairs, seating as many people. The cars are equipped for lighting both by Pintsch gas and electricity and are fitted with electric fans, for ventilation and cooling.

The other ten cars are 70-foot vestibuled coaches, with seating capacity for 80. The seats are upholstered in maroon plush, otherwise the decorations are the same as in the chair cars. All the cars have very large double plate glass windows and are equipped with Pullman standard six-wheel trucks.

An order is also in for over 4,000 freight cars of various kinds.

The Rock Island will also receive during March 65 new locomotives of various kinds, including 2 Pacific type passenger, 10 Atlantic type passenger, 15 freight and 20 switch engines. An additional order for 50 locomotives will be placed in the near future, for delivery in the summer.

This new equipment, which is to be added to from time to time, places the Rock Island in the front rank among western railroads in the matter of transportation facilities. The foresight manifested in thus meeting, and adequately providing for, the exigencies of increased traffic, is characteristic of the progressive policy of the Rock Island management.

Suffered Agonies From Kidney Disorders Until Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

George W. Renoff, of 1953 North Eleventh street, Philadelphia, Pa., a man of good reputation and standing, writes: "Five years ago I was suffering so with my back and kidneys that I often had to lay off. The kidney secretions were unnatural, my legs and stomach were swollen, and I had no appetite. When doctors failed to help me I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and improved until my back was strong and my appetite returned. During the four years since I stopped using them I have enjoyed excellent health. The cure was permanent."

A PROMOTION FOR FRAZIER

Tennessee's Governor Is Nominated to Succeed the Late Senator Bate.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16.—Gov. James B. Frazier was on Wednesday afternoon nominated for United States senator by the democratic caucus of the state legislature to succeed the late William B. Bate. The vote was by acclamation, no other name being presented to the caucus. When that body convened it was supposed the contest was to be a three-cornered one, friends of ex-Govs. Benton McMillin and Robert L. Taylor having been actively at work in their interest.

A test vote came, however, in an effort to adjourn the caucus until Monday next. The motion was defeated—36 to 64—and it was apparent that the Frazier forces were in the ascendancy. Senator McLaurin announced the withdrawal of ex-Gov. Taylor from the race and a similar announcement on behalf of Mr. McMillin was made by Senator Ligon. Gov. Frazier's nomination followed amidst much enthusiasm.

Gov. Frazier's election is assured, as the legislature is very largely democratic.

Ex-Bankers are Indicted.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 16.—Eugene A. Georger, ex-president of the failed German bank of Buffalo, was arraigned yesterday in the supreme court upon a number of indictments. Pleas of not guilty were entred to each one and bail was fixed at $25,000, which was furnished. An indictment charging misdemeanor was reported against Adolph Machwirth, a director of the bank. A plea of not guilty was entered and bail in the sum of $1,000 was furnished. Ex-President Emery was arraigned on two indictments, one charging perjury and the other a misdemeanor. He pleaded not guilty to each indictment and furnished $2,000 bail.

Women Gamblers In a Panic.

New York, March 16.—The police yesterday raided a pool room and gambling house in Forty-second street which they declare was patronized almost exclusively by wives of wealthy New Yorkers. The alleged pool room was located in a fashionable apartment house. The police had to break down two doors to reach the room. Their entrance was followed by a scene of wild excitement, the women, most of whom were gathered around a roulette table, screaming and attempting to escape by the windows and doors. After they had given their names and addresses they were allowed to go.

Seized a Million Lottery Tickets.

Mobile, Ala., March 16.—Collector of Customs William F. Tibbets, of the Mobile district, yesterday seized a million tickets of the Honduras National Lottery Co. and at the same time notified Gen. W. L. Cabell and Messrs. Ballumet and Ray, alleged officials of the company, to appear at his office. The seizure is the result of correspondence that has been going on for some time with Washington. The tickets were on board the steamer Hiram, just arrived from Honduras, and the same vessel brought the alleged officials of the company.

Police Chief Convicted of Bribery.

Pittsburg, March 16.—Police Superintendent Melvin H. Campbell, of Allegheny, was yesterday found guilty as indicted for accepting money under color of his office to aid in the maintenance of houses for the sale of liquor without license and for immoral purposes. His trial lasted three days and the jurors reached an agreement after less than two hours' consultation. This is the first to be tried of 125 "graft" cases which include three other Allegheny city officials and men and women charged with conducting illegal resorts.

Retired After 44 Years on the Bench.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 16.—Judge John Jackson, the last of President Lincoln's appointees, whose resignation was presented to President Roosevelt recently, held his final term of the United States district court here yesterday. The local bar and many lawyers from other parts of the state were present to participate in the formalities, which consisted mainly of addresses. Judge Jackson has sat upon the bench for nearly 44 years, a longer term than any other federal judge ever served.

Locomotive Exploded.

Johnstown, Pa., March 16.—While going west past Bolivar station on the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday a large locomotive hauling a train of empty steel hopper cars blew up, killing George Ribblett, of Altoona, the engineer; probably fatally scalding George Hyson, fireman, and Griffith Hare, conductor, and injuring a dozen track men who were working at the place. The cause of the explosion is not known, but it is supposed to have been due to low water in the boiler.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

Rochester, N. Y., March 16.—The jury in the case of Burd Ray Atkins, of Geneva, O., on trial in the supreme court at Batavia, returned a verdict last night of guilty of manslaughter, first degree. Atkins was connected with a traveling theatrical company and shot Leonard Scheer, of Batavia, last July during a quarrel.

Waterspout Caused Death and Ruin.

Austin, Tex., March 16.—A telephone message received here says that last night there was a terrific waterspout at Lufkin, 40 miles above this city, causing the water to rise in the river and surrounding creeks at that point 14 feet in five minutes, catching half a dozen campers in the bottoms and drowning two of them, four barely escaping with their lives. Considerable stock was swept away. For 30 minutes hail is reported to have fallen to the depth of one and a half inches with such force as to wreck many farm houses.

W. L. DOUGLAS
UNION MADE. $3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN.
W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the greatest sellers in the world because of their excellent style, easy fitting and superior wearing qualities. They are just as good as those that cost from $5.00 to $7.00. The only difference is the price. W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, hold their shape better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day. W. L. Douglas guarantees their value by stamping his name and price on the bottom of each shoe. Look for it. Take no substitute. W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are sold through his own retail stores in the principal cities, and by shoe dealers everywhere. No matter where you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach.
BETTER THAN OTHER MAKES AT ANY PRICE.
"For the last three years I have worn W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoe and found it not only as good, but better than any shoe that I ever had, regardless of price." Chas. Farrell, Asst. Cashier The Capital National Bank, Indianapolis, Ind.
Boys wear W. L. Douglas $2.50 and $2.00 shoes because they fit better, hold their shape, and wear longer than other makes.
W. L. DOUGLAS $4.00 SHOES CANNOT BE EQUALLED AT ANY PRICE.
W. L. Douglas uses Corona Coltskin in his $3.50 shoes. Corona Colt is considered to be the finest patent leather produced.
FAST COLOR EYELETS WILL NOT WEAR BRASSY
W. L. Douglas has the largest shoe mail order business in the world. No trouble to get a fit by mail. 25c. extra prepays delivery. If you desire further information, write for Illustrated Catalogue of Spring Styles.

A TRUE APPETIZER AND TONIC

Mi-o-na Will Make You Feel Hungry and Hearty, and Give Strength and Vitality.

Ask any friend who looks thin, pale, and out of health how many meals he or she eats a day, and the chances are that the answer will be, "Not over two, and I don't feel hungry then." The plump, rosy, and robust eat three square meals daily and their perfect health is due to a strong stomach and digestive system, as such a system takes out of the food all those elements that make pure blood, and give nourishment and vitality to the body.

The one appetizer and tonic that should be taken is Mi-o-na, the only agent known that will strengthen the stomach and digestive system, and put them in such perfect working order that they will digest easily and naturally all the food that is eaten, and send you to the table positively hungry for the next meal.

Without a strong stomach digestion will be poor, the blood impure, and serious liver and kidney troubles result, causing headaches, backaches, spots before the eyes, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritableness, a furred tongue and bad breath, all of which can be readily overcome by the use of Mi-o-na, (costing but 50c a box) as it goes right to the foundation of perfect health, the stomach.

Scores of leading people in the State, including editors, ministers, bankers, and their families, gladly testify to the tonic, strengthening and health giving effects of Mi-o-na. Furthermore, L. Taggart, one of the most reliable druggists in this section, sells Mi-o-na under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not produce satisfactory results.

The hypocrit's religion is the most repulsive of all his traits.

Strikes Hidden Rocks.

When your ship of health strikes the hidden rocks of Consumption, Pneumonia, etc., you are lost, if you don't get help from Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. J. W. McKinnon, of Talladega Springs, Ala., writes: "I had been very ill with Pheumonia under the care of two doctors, but was getting no better when I began to take Dr. King's New Discovery. The first dose gave relief and one bottle cured me." Sure cure for sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds Guarranted at L. Taggart's drug store price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

One Cannot Forget.

The old man may not recall all the experiences, all the struggles and triumphs of his early manhood but every feature of his childhood home, every little playhouse that he helped his sister to build, is a photograph on his heart's tablet and can never fade away. Perhaps the golden light of eternity will not dim the brightness of that picture. What else the heart may forget, it cannot forget the place of its birth; it cannot forget the little broken cart, the sled and the kite, the sister's fond caress, the brother's generous aid, the father's council the mother's anxious prayer.—Ex.

OUR SERIAL.

THE DAILY GRIND.

My son, when you speak of the work you do, there's something to keep in mind;
No matter how little it pleases you, don't call it "the daily grind."
Don't tell of the tasks that you dislike, nor grumble at sorry fate—
There never was work set to our hands that we had a right to hate;
It isn't the work; it isn't the hire; nor toiling from sun to sun
That counts in the eyes of them who see—it's "how is the labor done?"
As soon as you say it's a daily grind, that moment you hate your work,
That moment the imp of indolence shows you how you well may shirk;
That moment you lose all your good intent; that moment you ought to quit,
For the work that you do is a friend to you while you are a friend to it,
And once you have called it a slavish task and named it "the daily grind,"
Your work is a snare that will catch your feet and cause you to fall behind.
My son, when you work you must finish your task; you must finish that task alone,
And work that is done with a friendly hand will change to a stepping stone,
Will carry you over the barring stream or out of the clinging slough
And lift you to where you may put your hand on the work that you want to do.
It will help you along to the heights you seek, will bring you unto your goal—
But when you declare it's "the daily grind," it will grind you both heart and soul.

—W. D. N., in Chicago Daily Tribune.

D'ri and I

By IRVING BACHELLER

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Company.)

CHAPTER XV.

D'ri's narrative was the talk of the garrison. Those who heard the telling, as I did not, were fond of quoting its odd phrases, and of describing how D'ri would thrust and parry with his jack-knife in the story of the bouts.

The mystery of that plunge into darkness and invisible water was a trial to my nerves the like of which I had never suffered. After they had pulled his lordship out of the grave, and I knew there would be no more fighting, I began to feel the strain he had put upon me. He was not so strong as D'ri, but I had never stood before a quicker man. His blade was as full of life and cunning as a cat's paw, and he tired me. When I went under the water I felt sure it was all over, for I was sick and faint. I had been thinking of D'ri in that quick descent. I wondered if he was the man who had got away and gone down the slide. I was not the less amazed, however, to feel his strong hand upon me as I came up. I knew nothing for a time. D'ri has told me often how he bore me up in rapid water until he came into an eddy where he could touch bottom. There, presently, I got back my senses and stood leaning on his broad shoulder awhile. A wind was blowing, and we could hear a boat jumping in the ripples near by. We could see nothing, it was so dark, but D'ri left me, feeling his way slowly, and soon found the boat. He whistled to me, and I made my way to him. There were oars in the bottom of the boat. D'ri helped me in, where I lay back with a mighty sense of relief. Then he hauled in a rope and anchor, and shoved off. The boat, overrunning the flow in a moment, shot away rapidly. I could feel it take headway as we clove the murmuring waters. D'ri set the oars and helped it on. I lay awhile thinking of all the blood and horror in that black night—like a dream of evil that leads through dim regions of silence into the shadow of death. I thought of the hinted peril of the slide that was to be the punishment of poor courage.

D'ri had a plausible theory of the slide. He said that if we had clung to the sides of it to break our speed we'd have gone down like a plummet and shattered our bones on a rocky shore. Coming fast, our bodies leaped far into the air and fell to deep water. How long I lay there thinking, as I rested, I have no satisfactory notion. Louise and Louison came into my thoughts, and a plan of rescue. A rush of cavalry and reeking swords, a dash for the boats, with a flying horse under each fair lady, were in that moving vision. But where should we find them? for I knew not the name of that country out of which we had come by ways of darkness and peril. The old query came to me: If I had to choose between them, which should I take? There was as much of the old doubt in me as ever. For a verity, I loved them both, and would die for either. I opened my eyes at last, and, rising, my hands upon the gunwales, could dimly see the great shoulders of D'ri swaying back and forth as he rowed. The coming dawn had shot an arrow into the great, black sphere of night, cracking it from circumference to core, and floods of light shortly came pouring in, sweeping down bridges of darkness, gates of gloom, and massy walls of shadow. We were in the middle of a broad river—the St. Lawrence, we knew, albeit the shores were unfamiliar to either of us. The sunlight stuck in the ripples, and the breeze fanned them into flowing fire. The morning lighted the green hills of my native land with a mighty splendor. A new life and a great joy came to me as I filled my lungs with the sweet air. D'ri pulled into a cove, and neither could speak for a little. He turned, looking out upon the river, and brushed a tear off his brown cheek.

"No use talkin'," said he, in a low tone, as the bow hit the shore, "ain' no country luk this 'un, don' care where ye go."

As the oars lay still, we could hear in the far timber a call of fife and drum. Listening, we heard the faint familiar strains of "Yankee Doodle." We came ashore in silence, and I hugged the nearest tree, and was not able to say the "Thank God!" that fell from my lips only half spoken.

CHAPTER XVI.

We got our bearings, a pair of boots for D'ri, and a hearty meal in the cabin of a settler. The good man was unfamiliar with the upper shore, and we got no help in our mystery. Starting west, in the woods, on our way to the harbor, we stopped here and there to listen, but heard only wood-thrush and partridge—the fife and drum of nature. That other music had gone out of hearing. We had no compass, but D'ri knew the forest as a crow knows the air. He knew the language of the trees and the brooks. The feel of the bark and what he called "the lean of the timber" told him which way was south. River and stream had a way of telling him whence they had come and where they were going, but he had no understanding of a map. I remember, after we had come to the harbor at dusk and told our story, the general asked him to indicate our landing place and our journey home on a big map at headquarters. D'ri studied the map a brief while. There was a look of embarrassment on his sober face.

"Seems so we come ashore 'bout here," said he, dropping the middle finger of his right hand in the vicinity of Quebec. "Then we traveled aw-a-a-ay hellwards over 'n this 'ere direction." With that illuminating remark he had slid his finger over some 200 leagues of country from Quebec to Michigan.

They met us with honest joy and no little surprise that evening as we came into camp. Ten of our comrades had returned, but as for ourselves, they thought us in for a long stay. We said little of what we had gone through, outside the small office at headquarters, but somehow it began to travel, passing quickly from mouth to mouth, until it got to the newspapers and began to stir the tongue of each raw recruit. Gen. Brown was there that evening, and had for me, as always, the warm heart of a father. He heard our report with a kindly sympathy.

Next morning I rode away to see the Comte de Chaumont at Leraysville. I had my life, and a great reason to be thankful, but there were lives dearer than my own to me, and they were yet in peril. Those dear faces haunted me and filled my sleep with trouble. I rode fast, reaching the chateau at luncheon time. The count was reading in a rustic chair at the big gate. He came running to me, his face red with excitement.

"M'sieur le Capitaine!" he cried, my hand in both of his, "I thought you were dead."

"And so I have been—dead as a cat drowned in a well, that turns up again as lively as ever. Any news of the baroness and the young ladies?"

"A letter," said he. "Come, get off your horse. I shall read to you the letter."

"Tell me—how were they taken?"

I was leading my horse and we were walking through a deep grove.

"Eh bien, I am not able to tell," said he, shaking his head soberly. "You remember that morning—well, I have 20 men there for two days. They are armed, they surround the Hermitage, they keep a good watch. The wasp he is very troublesome, but they see no soldier. They stay, they burn the smudge. By and by I think there is nothing to fear, and I bring them home, but I leave three men. The baroness and the two girls and their servants they stay awhile to pack the trunk. They are coming to the chateau. It is in the evening; the coach is at the door; the servants have started. Suddenly—the British! I do not know how many. They come out of the woods like a lightning, and bang! bang! bang! they have killed my men. They take the baroness and the Misses de Lambert, and they drive away with them. The servants they hear the shots, they return, they come, and they tell us. We follow. We find the coach; it is in the road, by the north trail. Dieu! they are all gone! We travel to the river, but—" here he lifted his shoulders and shook his head dolefully—"we could do nothing."

"The general may let me go after them with a force of cavalry," I said. "I want you to come with me and talk to him."

"No, no, my capitaine!" said he; "it would not be wise. We must wait. We do not know where they are. I have friends in Canada; they are doing their best, and when we hear from them—eh bien, we shall know what is necessary."

I told him how I had met them that night in Canada and what came of it.

"They are a cruel people, the English," said he. "I am afraid to find them will be a matter of great difficulty."

The former called to me as I passed. I

"But the letter—"

"Ah, the letter," he interrupted, feeling in his pocket. "The letter is not much. It is from Tiptoes—from Louison. It was mailed this side of the river at Morristown. You shall see; they do not know where they are."

He handed me the letter. I read it with an eagerness I could not conceal. It went as follows:

"My Dear Count: If this letter reaches you, it will, I hope, relieve your anxiety. We are alive and well, but where? I am sure I have no better idea than if I were a baby just born. We came here with our eyes covered after a long ride from the river, which we crossed in the night. I think it must have taken us three days to come here. We are shut up in a big house with high walls and trees and gardens around it—a beautiful place. We have fine beds and everything to eat, only we miss the bouil-labaisse, and the jokes of M. Pidgeon, and the fine old claret. A fat Englishwoman who waddles around like a big goose and who calls me Mumm (as if I were a wine-maker!) waits upon us. We do not know the name of our host. He is a tall man who says little and has hair on his neck and on the back of his hands. Dieu! he is a lord who talks as if he were too lazy to breathe. It is 'Your Lordship this' and 'Your Lordship that.' But I must speak well of him, because he is going to read this letter: it is on that condition I am permitted to write. Therefore I say he is a great and good man, a beautiful man. The baroness and Louise send love to all. Madame says do not worry; we shall come out all right: but I say worry! and, good man, do not cease to worry until we are safe home. Tell the cure he has something to do now. I have worn out my rosary, and am losing faith. Tell him to try his. Your affectionate, LOUISON."

"She is an odd girl," said the count, as I gave back the letter, "so full of fun, so happy, so bright, so quick—always on her tiptoes. Come, you are tired; you have ridden far in the dust. I shall make you glad to be here."

A groom took my horse, and the count led me down a wooded slope to the lakeside. Octagonal water-houses, painted white, lay floating at anchor near us. He rowed me to one of them for a bath. Inside was a rug and a table and soap and linen. A broad panel on a side of the floor came up as I pulled a cord, showing water clear and luminous to the sandy lake-bottom. The glow of the noonday filled the lake to its shores, and in a moment I clove the sunlit depths—a rare delight after my long, hot ride.

At luncheon we talked of the war, and he made much complaint of the northern army, as did everybody those days.

"My boy," said he, "you should join Perry on the second lake. It is your only chance to fight, to win glory."

He told me then of the impending battle and of Perry's great need of men. I had read of the sea-fighting and longed for a part in it. To climb on hostile decks and fight hand to hand was a thing to my fancy. Ah, well! I was young then. At the count's table that day I determined to go, if I could get leave.

Therese and a young Parisienne, her friend, were at luncheon with us. They bade us adieu and went away for a gallop as we took cigars. We had no sooner left the dining room than I called for my horse. Due at the Harbor that evening, I could give myself no longer to the fine hospitality of the count. In a few moments I was bounding over the road, now cool in deep forest shadows. A little way on I overtook Therese and the Parisienne. drew rein, coming back and stopping beside her. The other went on at a walk.

"M'sieur le Capitaine, have you any news of them—of Louise and Louison?" she inquired. "You and my father were so busy talking I could not ask you before."

"I know this only; they are in captivity somewhere, I cannot tell where."

"You look worried, M'sieur le Capitaine; you have not the happy face, the merry look, any longer. In June you were a boy, in August—voila! it is a man! Perhaps you are preparing for the ministry."

She assumed a solemn look, glancing up at me as if in mockery of my sober face. She was a slim, fine brunette, who, as I knew, had long been a confidante of Louison.

"Alas! ma'm'selle, I am worried. I have no longer any peace."

"Do you miss them?" she inquired, a knowing look in her handsome eyes. "Do not think me impertinent."

"More than I miss my mother," I said.

"I have a letter," said she, smiling. "I do not know—I thought I should show it to you, but—but not to-day."

"Is it from them?"

"It is from Louison—from Tiptoes."

"And—and it speaks of me?"

"Ah, m'sieur," said she, arching her brows, "it has indeed much to say of you."

"And—and may I not see it?' I asked eagerly. "Ma'm'selle, I tell you I—I must see it."

"Why?" She stirred the mane of her horse with a red riding-whip.

"Why not?" I inquired, my heart beating fast.

"If I knew—if I were justified—you know I am her friend. I know all her secrets."

"Will you not be my friend also?" I interrupted.

"A friend of Louison, he is mine," said she.

"Ah, ma'm'selle, then I confess to you—it is because I love her."

"I knew it; I am no fool," was her answer. "But I had to hear it from you. It is a remarkable thing to do, but they are in such peril. I think you ought to know."

She took the letter from her bosom, passing it to my hand. A faint odor of violets came with it. It read:

"My Dear Therese: I wish I could see you, if only for an hour. I have so much to say. I have written your father of our prison home. I am going to write you of my troubles. You know what we were talking about the last time I saw you—myself and that handsome fellow. Mon Dieu! I shall not name him. It is not necessary. Well, you were right, my dear. I was a fool; I laughed at your warning; I did not know the meaning of that delicious pain. But oh, my friend, it has become a terrible thing since I know I may never see him again. My heart is breaking with it. Mere de Dieu! I can no longer laugh or jest or pretend to be happy. What shall I say? That I had rather die than live without him? No; that is not enough. I had rather be an old maid and live only with the thought of him than marry another, if he were a king. I remember those words of yours, 'I know he loves you.' Oh, my dear Therese, what a comfort they are to me now! I repeat them often. If I could only say, 'I know'! Alas! I can but say, 'I do not know,' nay, even, 'I do not believe.' If I had not been a fool I should have made him tell me, for I had him over his ears in love with me one day, or I am no judge of a man. But, you know, they are so fickle! And then the Yankee girls are pretty and so clever. Well, they shall not have him if I can help it. When I return there shall be war, if necessary, between France and America. And, Therese, you know I have the weapons, and you have done me the honor to say I know how to use them. I have told Louise, and—what do you think?—the poor thing cried an hour—for pity of me! As ever, she makes my trouble her own. I have been selfish always, but I know the cure. It is love—toujours l'amour. Now I think only of him, and he recalls you and your sweet words. God make you a true prophet! With love to you and the marquis, I kiss each line, praying for happiness for you and for him. Believe me as ever, Your affectionate, LOUISON."

"P.S. I feel better now I have told you. I wonder what his lordship will say. Poor thing! he will read this; he will think me a fool. Eh bien, I have no better thought of him. He can put me under lock and key, but he shall not imprison my secrets; and, if they bore him, he should not read my letters. L."

I read it thrice, and held it for a moment to my lips. Every word stung me with the sweet pain that afflicted its author. I could feel my cheeks burning.

"Ma'mselle, pardon me; it is not I she refers to. She does not say whom."

"Surely," said Therese, flirting her whip and lifting her shoulders. "M'sieur le Capitaine is never a stupid man. You—you should say something very nice now."

"If it is I—thank God— Her misery is my delight, her liberation my one purpose."

"And my congratulations," said she, giving me her hand. "She has wit and beauty, a true heart, a great fortune, and—good luck in having your love."

I raised my hat, blushing to the roots of my hair.

"It is a pretty compliment," I said. "And—and I have no gift of speech to thank you. I am not a match for you except in my love of kindness and—and of Louison. You have made me happier than I have been before."

"If I have made you alert, ingenious, determined, I am content," was her answer. "I know you have courage."

"And will to use it."

"Good luck and adieu!" said she, with a fine flourish of her whip; those people had always a pretty politeness of manner.

"Adieu," I said, lifting my hat as I rode off, with a prick of the spur, for the road was long and I had lost quite half an hour.

My elation gave way to sober thought presently. I began to think of Louise—that quiet, frank, noble, beautiful, great-hearted girl, who might be suffering what trouble I knew not, and all silently, there in her prison home. A sadness grew in me, and then I suddenly saw the shadow of great trouble. I loved them both; I knew not which I loved the better. Yet this interview had almost committed me to Louison.

LORD BRAMPTON'S SPEECH.

Saved His Client's Neck, but Its Description Was Not Faithful to the Facts.

A story with pathetic interest is told by Lord Brampton in connection with a man whom he defended. The man was charged with wife murder, and his two children were in court, dressed in black and sobbing violently. A verdict was given in the prisoner's favor. But the interest in the case did not end there, says the London Daily Mail.

"On the same evening," writes Lord Brampton, "I was dining at the country house of a Mr. Hardcastle, and near me sat an old inhabitant of the village where the tragedy had been committed.

"'You made a touching speech, Mr. Hawkins,' said the old inhabitant.

"'Well,' I answered 'it was the best I could do under the circumstances.'

"'Yes,' he said, 'but I don't think you would have painted the little home in such glowing colors if you had seen what I saw last week when I was driving past the cottage. No, no; I think you would have toned down a bit.'

"'What was it?' I asked.

"'Why,' said the old inhabitant, 'the little children who sobbed so violently in court this morning and to whom you made such a pathetic reference were playing on an ash heap near their cottage, and they had a poor cat with a string around its neck, swinging backward and forward, and as they did so they sang:

"'This is the way poor daddy will go.
"'This is the way poor daddy will go.'"

"'Such, Mr. Hawkins, was their excessive grief.'"

He Couldn't Forget It.

At school, little Charlie, being one of the geography class, was deeply interested in learning the points of the compass. Said the teacher: "You have in front of you the north; on your right, the east; on your left, the west. What have you behind you?" After a moment's reflection, Charlie exclaimed: "A patch on my pants." And to make the information more binding, Charley continued in a shamefaced manner: "I knew you'd see it. I told mamma you would."—Argonaut.

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

What It Was That Made the Welsh Rabbit Taste So Very Queer.

A lady walked into a grocer's shop one day with her sleeves turned up to her elbows and a fighting light in her eyes, says the Kansas City Independent.

"This here," she observed with a sniff, as she banged a piece of yellow substance on the counter, "is the soap that makes ev'ry washin' day a kind of glorified bean feast; the soap that gets all the linen as white as snow and as sweet as a hazelnut by dinner time, and lets the happy housewife spend the rest of the day playin' with the children, and here am I, been scrubbin' three mortal hours with that lump, and ain't got as much lather out of it as I could get from a brickbat."

"I beg your pardon," remarked the grocer, courteously, "but it isn't the soap. Your little boy came in here yesterday for half a pound of both soap and cheese; that's the cheese."

"The cheese!" gasped the lady. "That accounts for the other thing, then."

"The other thing?"

"Yes, the other thing," came the reply. "I was layin' awake half the night wonderin' what it was made the Welsh rabbit we had for supper taste so funny."

You think that an opportunity must necessarily be something great and unusual; but the fact is, the stepping-stone to the place above you is in the very thing you are doing, in the way you do it; it does not matter what it is.—Success Magazine.

SCREAMED AT NIGHT.

Baby Scratched Until Face Was Raw and Bleeding—Eczema Cured by Cuticura.

"For over two years my little baby girl suffered with a raw, itching and painful eczema on her head and face, the pain causing her to scream day and night, and my wife could get no rest. We tried several doctors, but without success. Unless we kept her hands tied she would scratch until her face was like raw beef. One cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment completely cured her, healing her face without mark or blemish. (Signed) W. J. RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with womb trouble, which caused me severe pain extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid uterine tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain; and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy after so many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, leucorrhœa, flooding, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or ovarian trouble. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SOUTHERN CONDITIONS AND POSSIBILITIES.

In no part of the United States has there been such wonderful Commercial, Industrial and Agricultural development as along the lines of the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroads in the States of Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, within the past ten years. Cities and towns have doubled their population. Splendid business blocks have been erected. Farm lands have more than doubled in value. Hundreds of industries have been established and as a result there is an unprecedented demand for Day Laborers, Skilled Workmen, and especially Farm Tenants.

Parties with small capital, seeking an opportunity to purchase a farm home; farmers who would prefer to rent for a couple of years before purchasing; and day laborers in fields or factories should address a postal card to Mr. J. F. Merry, Asst. General Passenger Agent, Dubuque, Iowa, who will promptly mail printed matter concerning the territory above described, and give specific replies to all inquiries.

FOR CONSIDERATION BY THE THOUGHTFUL.

A Tribute to Weather Conditions in Western Canada.

During the early portion of February, of this year, the Middle and Western States suffered severely with the intense cold and winter's storms. Trains were delayed, cattle suffered, and there was much general hardship. While this was the case, throughout Western Canada, now attracting so much attention, the weather was perfect.

One correspondent writes: "We are enjoying most beautiful weather, the gentlemen are going to church without top coats, while the ladies require no heavier outer clothing than that afforded by light jackets." In contrast with this it is interesting to read in a St. Paul paper of February 13 the following, in double headlines, and large bold-faced type:

"Warm Wave Near Arctic Zone,

"Calgary Much Warmer Than St. Paul.

"Balmy Breezes are Blowing in Northwestern Canada while people are freezing to death in Texas and other Southern States."

During the month of January of this year the number of settlers who went to Canada was greater than any previous January. The movement northward is increasing wonderfully.

The vacant lands of Western Canada are rapidly filling with an excellent class of people. The Government Agents located at different points in the States, whose duty it is to direct settlers, are busier than ever. They have arranged for special excursions during the months of March and April, and will be pleased to give intending settlers any desired information.

Overworked People

and those who are suffering from Rheumatism, Pains, Weakness, Blood or Nervous disorders, Indigestion, etc., should take Pusheck's-Kuro. It is unquestionably the best medicine to-day for these diseases, also for Nervous Debility, Insomnia and Stomach troubles. Try it. Insist upon your druggist always keeping Pusheck's-Kuro on hand.

NERVOUS HEADACHE

MARRED A YOUNG WOMAN'S HAPPINESS FOR SEVEN YEARS.

Interfered With Her Social Duties and Threatened to Cause Her Retirement—How She Was Cured.

Every sufferer from nervous headache knows how completely it unfits one for the duties and pleasures of life. Any little excitement, or over-exertion, or irregularity brings it on. Sometimes the pain is over the whole head. Again it is like a nail driven into the brain, or a wedge splitting it open, or a band tightening about it. At one time it is all in the top of the head, at another it is all at the base of the skull.

Most headaches can be traced to some faulty state of the blood. When the blood is scanty or charged with poison, and the nerves are imperfectly nourished and the digestion weak, one of the commonest results is frequent and severe headaches.

The important thing is to get rid of the diseased condition of the blood that causes the attack by the use of a remedy that will do the work quickly and thoroughly. What is that remedy? The experience of Miss Ellen McKenna furnishes the answer. She says:

"For more than seven years I was a great sufferer from nervous headache and dizziness. My stomach was disordered, and I became so restless that I could not sit still any length of time. Dizziness interrupted my work greatly. At first the attacks were not so severe, but they gradually grew more violent, and finally became so acute that I was on the point of relinquishing my membership in the different organizations to which I belonged."

"What saved you from that necessity?"

"A very simple thing; the call of a member of one of the clubs, who strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before giving up. I acted on her suggestion at once, and after steadily using this great blood and nerve remedy for two months, my headaches and my dizziness entirely disappeared.

Miss McKenna is secretary of the Associated Ladies' Guild, and resides at No. 48 Wait street, Roxbury, Mass. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many hundreds of similar cases, and can be confidently recommended to drive all poisons from the blood and to give needed strength to the nerves. Every druggist keeps them.

HOW TO STOP BLEEDING.

Terse Directions and to the Point Given as to What to Do in Such a Case of Emergency.

It often happens in cases of accident that the danger to life is greatly increased by, if not solely dependent upon, the loss of blood, the injury itself being a comparatively trivial affair. Whether light or serious, the wound can wait, indeed in most cases must wait, for the arrival of the physician, but the bleeding waits for nothing—it must be arrested speedily, and if it is not stopped by some one on the spot, or if it does not cease spontaneously, the coming of the physician may be useless, for the wounds of a dead man need no binding.

In classes of instruction in first aid to the wounded, this point is always insisted upon, and rightly; but unfortunately how bleeding from a cut or torn artery can be quickly and certainly arrested is not always clearly enough explained. The pupils study diagrams depicting the course and direction of the large arteries, and round black or red disks are placed at the points where pressure can be effectively applied to shut off the flow of blood from the parts lower down on the limb; the application of a tourniquet is taught, and sometimes even the mode of tying an artery (which is surgeon's work and not to be attempted by any member of a first-aid class) is elaborately explained; but sometimes the lecturer forgets to say that the most copious bleeding can always be arrested temporarily, and often permanently, by simple pressure made directly on the bleeding point. If you can put your finger (literally) on the source of the hemorrhage and keep it there, your wounded companion will not bleed to death, at least not while under your care.

One must make sure, in doing this, that the finger is really making pressure on the bleeding point, which may be deep down at the bottom of the wound; but the continuance of the bleeding will soon prove that the finger, or the cloth pad, or the rounded stick, or whatever is used to make pressure with, is not pressing on the right spot. Care must be taken not to soil the wound with dirty fingers or a dirty rag. If time and opportunity permit, the finger should first be washed or at least wiped with a clean cloth, and if a cloth pad is used the outer layers at least must be free from visible dirt.

In almost any company some one may be found who has a clean handkerchief in the pocket. One which has not been unfolded is best, for this can then be folded inside out and made up into a clean pad of any desired shape. —Youth's Companion.

SACHETS AND PERFUMES.

When My Lady Looks After the Ways of Her Household She Should Remember This Finishing Touch.

For the housewife who likes the scent of lavender leaves in her linen closets the cushions of Japanese crepe paper with oriental decorations are useful and decorative. These cushions are six or eight inches square.

Sandal wood sticks an inch square and five inches long are useful for laying among curtains and draperies when they are put away in the spring, and the fragrance will remain long after the hangings are unpacked in the autumn.

Oriental perfumes, though considered oppressively sweet by some folks, are greatly in favor with many others, and there are combinations of oriental scents that are new and exceedingly agreeable.

It is predicted that carnation will be one of the scents particularly approved by fashion in the coming season, and combined with violet is especially good for sachet powder. Of course, violet, with a blending of orris root, and violet and heliotrope in combination are always in favor. And old-fashioned lavender is a dainty clean scent much liked by the exquisite housekeeper.

BITS OF FEMININITY.

The blue and green plaids in soft camel's hair wool are popular.

The light tint of apricot, fashionable many years ago, is again in favor.

Satin just now is used almost exclusively for the picturesque frock. Plain satin looks better with a gathered skirt and simple bodice.

One very exclusive fashion arbiter declares that short, white, glace kid gloves have become provincial, that suede gloves in the tan colors are much better form.

Evening silk petticoats have borrowed ideas from English eyelet work, and show flounces made up of bands of the silk, embroidered in designs of eyelets, alternating with rows of lace.

Models in plain brussels net are quite elaborately made, with quantities of gaugings and ruchings, elbow sleeves and slight decollete, arranged with fichus and choux of flowers.

Ruffles.

Next summer's muslin gowns will be made again with the ruffled skirts which proved to be so popular last year. A skirt made with two or three deep flounces, each flounce scalloped and embroidered on the edge, is sure to be satisfactory and no other model is so well adapted to the effective display of sash, ribbon and striking girdles.

Peanut Sandwiches.

Shell and skin freshly roasted peanuts and roll them to fine crumbs on a pastry board. Add salt to taste and mix the powdered nuts with enough fresh cream cheese to make a paste that can be easily spread on unbuttered bread. Keep in a cold, damp place until wanted.

Lived Without Hope.

"Don't growl so. We can't all be born with a silver spoon in our mouths, you know," said the philosophic man.

"No," replied the pessimist, "and if I had been born that way, the spoon would have choked me."—Philadelphia Press.

Not So Presumptuous.

Pompus Waiter—Have you ordered, miss?

Timid Little Girl (taking her first meal at a restaurant)—N-no, sir; but I've requested.—Chicago Tribune.

Didn't Expect To.

"You may marry a younger man when I am gone, but you will never get another to dote on you as I have done."

"No, I expect to skip the dotage next time."—Houston Post.

Found at Last.

Alston, Mich., March 13th.—(Special)—After suffering for twenty years from Rheumatism and Kidney Troubles, and spending a fortune in doctors and medicines that brought him no relief, Mr. James Culet of this place has found a complete cure for all his aches, pains and weakness, in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Naturally Mr. Culet feels much elated over his cure and gives great credit to the remedy that gave him health.

"Yes," Mr. Culet says, "my Rheumatism and Kidney Troubles are all gone and I feel like a new man. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it. Before I used them I spent a small fortune on doctors and one remedy and another. I cheerfully recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from Rheumatism or Kidney Trouble."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure sick kidneys. Healthy kidneys take all the uric acid—the cause of Rheumatism—out of the blood. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism.

To "drink in the landscape" one should be supplied with field glasses.—Philadelphia Record.

The Secret of Success with Pusheck's-Kuro is that it does what no other medicine can do. It affects the grand trio—the stomach, the blood and the nerves—that controls and regulates the whole body, every organ and every function. It corrects the digestion and assimilation of food that keeps up the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, corrects, regulates and strengthens the nerves. This explains why one medicine permanently cures Rheumatism, Pains, Weakness, Nervous Debility, Catarrh, Indigestion, Skin diseases and all Blood and Nerve troubles. The price of Pusheck's-Kuro is $1.00. It can be had at your druggist's or direct from Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago. Write for illustrated booklet.

An Electrical Engineer

This is the sort of an Engineer we produce. These are his working clothes.

Many young men do not know the duties of an Electrical Engineer.

He is not the man who carries the oil can and the greasy waste, but the Designing, Directing Engineer who plans the machines which the other man runs; who lays out and oversees the work which subordinates execute.

Electrical Engineers earn a

SALARY OF $1,500

and upward. You can get the knowledge needed for such a position without interfering with your regular work by a few hours' study each day in your own home. The work progresses by such EASY STAGES that any man who is ambitious can become an Electrical Engineer.

You can qualify for such a position through a course with the American School of Correspondence at Armour Institute of Technology.

Never before have the resources and equipment of a great resident engineering school, combined with long experience in correspondence teaching, been offered to ambitious men in their own homes without interfering with their regular work.

Never before have men who cannot go to college had an opportunity to study under the direction of the same instructors who teach the classes of a regular engineering school of high standing.

READ THIS SYNOPSIS AND SEE WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

ELEMENTS OF ELECTRICITY: Magnetism, Static Electricity, Insulators, Electric Machines, Dyamic Electricity, Cells, Solenoid, Electro-Magnets, Induction Coils, Telephone, Telegraph.

ELECTRIC CURRENT: Resistance, Conductance, Wire Tables, Ohm's Law Circuits, Fall of Potential, Efficiency.

THEORY of DYNAMO-ELECTRIC MACHINERY: Induction, The Generator, Commutator, Permeability, Hysteresis, Armature Reaction, Series, Shunt and Compound Windings.

DIRECT CURRENT DYNAMOS: Curves, Long and Short Shunt, Field Magnets, Armature Windings, Commutators, Brushes, Sparking. DESIGN: Windings, Magnetic Density, Losses, Magnet Flux, Air Gaps, Armature Core, Field Cores and Yoke, Pole Pieces, Armature Reactions, Efficiency.

DIRECT CURRENT MOTORS: Principles, Counter E. M. F., Torque and Speed, The Prony Brake, Shunt and Series Motors, Compound Motors, Regulation.

TYPES OF DYNAMO-ELECTRIC MACHINERY; DIRECT CURRENT: General Electric, Crocker-Wheeler, Westinghouse, Bullock, C. and C., Holtzer-Cabot, etc.; Electrolytic Work, Arc Lighting Generators.

MANAGEMENT OF DYNAMO-ELECTRIC MACHINERY: Operation, Construction, Regulation, Installation, Starting, Stopping, Generators in Parallel, Generators in Series, Three-Wire System, Inspecting, Testing, Troubles.

ELECTRIC-WIRING: Switchboard, Lightning Arresters, Tables, Wiring, General Formulae, Conduit Work, Switches, Inspection, Insurance Rules and Regulations.

POWER STATIONS: Location, Instruments, Switchboard, Arrangement, Records, Charging for Power.

STORAGE BATTERIES: Plante, Faure, Forming Plates, Electrolyte, Tests, Sulphating, Over Discharging, Uses, Diagrams, Charging, Boosters.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING: Incandescent Lamps, Arc Lights, Distribution, Feeders, Cooper-Hewitt Lamp, Nernst Lamp, Osmium Lamp, Illumination, Photometry.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS: Gears, Motor Suspension, Controllers, Series Parallel Control, Rheostat Control, Multiple-Unit System, Accessories, Air Brake, Magnetic Brake, Overhead Construction, High-Tension Lines, Third Rail, Conduit System, Track Construction, Alternating Current, Transmission.

ELECTRICAL MEASUREMENTS: Galvanometers, Meters, Faults, Calibration of Volt-meters and Ammeters, Measurement of Energy, Quantity and Capacity.

ALTERNATING-CURRENT MACHINERY: Alternator, Armature Reaction, Regulation, Excitation, Synchronous Motor, Transformer, Rotary Converter, Induction Motor, Motor Generator.

POWER TRANSMISSION: Conductors, Distribution System, Transmission Lines, Calculation, Construction, Insulators, Protecting Devices.

THE TELEPHONE: Batteries, Receiver, Transmitters, Signaling, Bells, Telephone Lines, Telephone Exchange, Common Battery System, Intercommunicating System, Operation, Toll Lines, Branch Exchange.

THE ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH: Equipment of Small Office, Sounder, The Morse Code, The Relay, Switchboard, Messages, Cipher, Press Service, The Phillips Code, Railway Telegraph, Repeaters, Multiplex Telegraphy, Phonoplex.

The Cost of Instruction is Within the Reach of All—From $10.00 Upwards—and May Be Paid in Small Monthly Payments if Desired.

SPECIAL Students enrolling in the Electrical Engineering Course before MAY 15th will receive, in addition to their regular instruction papers

A VALUABLE ENGINEERING REFERENCE LIBRARY

The Sunday Magazine will be the only publication in America where this great story may be read. By special arrangements with Mr. Edward J. Clode, Mr. Tracy's American publisher, this story will not appear in any other published form until 1906.

England, Russia and America furnish the principal characters in this remarkable and timely story. Love and thrilling adventure is the theme, as in all of Mr Tracy's most successful work. The action begins with a bomb thrown in London, an Anarchist meeting in Tottenham Court Road, some sensational disclosures in the Russian colony in England, and then shifts to the castle of a Russian provincial governor, or "Little Czar," whose subjects are in revolt at his intrigues. The plot affords superb opportunity for a brilliant display of the author's swift imagination, and an almost equally interesting display of his intimate knowledge of Russia life of to-day.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomei Cures this Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of the catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

It you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

offensive breath	huskiness of voice
dryness of the nose	discharge from nose
pain across the eyes	stoppage of the nose at night
pain in back of the head	aching of the body
pain in front of the head	droppings in the throat
tendency to take cold	mouth open while sleeping
burning pain in the throat	tickling back of the palate
hawking to clear the throat	formation of crusts in the nose
pain in the chest	dryness of the throat in the morning
a cough	loss of strength
stitch in side	spasms of coughing
losing of flesh	cough short and hacking
variable appetite	cough worse nights and mornings
low spirited at times	loss of vital force
raising of frothy mucous	a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest expectorating yellow matter difficulty in breathing frequent sneezing

Hyomei will cure the disease, destroy activity of all germ life in the respiratory organs, enrich and purify the blood with additional ozone, and after a few days use of this treatment the majority of these symptoms will have disappeared. In a few weeks the cure will be complete.

Catarrh or catarrhal colds cannot exist when Hyomei is used. This is a strong statement, but L. Taggart emphasizes it by agreeing to refund your money if Hyomei does not cure.

A man doesn't believe in luck if he is having the right kind.

Woman's Ills

How rare a thing to find a woman who is perfectly healthy. Fully seventy per cent. of the sex suffers from ailments which often render life a burden. These afflictions cause nervousness, irritability, melancholia, hysteria, etc. They entirely unfit a woman for life's work and deprive her of most of its joys.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA
Herb Tea
WOMAN'S SAFE GUARD.

Those suffering with disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, etc., will find immediate relief from the use of Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea and in the majority of cases it will bring about a complete cure. It is a positive cure for chronic constipation, sick headache and indigestion. In case of nervousness and sleeplessness this tea will be found indeed a boon. It has a soothing and quieting effect on the nerves and invariably induces sound, refreshing sleep. A cupful at bed-time is all that is necessary to make a woman well and keep her well.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:
Two years ago I suffered with female complaint and used your Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea with great success. I have just begun taking it again and I feel much younger and stronger. If every woman sufferer could know the relief she would experience by using your Herb Tea she would never be without it. It is a most wonderful remedy and I take pleasure in recommending it to any lady who is suffering with female troubles. MISS C. L. CARPENTER.

GREAT Business Opportunities

The undersigned desires to dispose of some of his business establishments in Emporium, now doing a prosperous business. Not having time to devote the attentions I must sell.

I will dispose to the right party either my clothing stock and good-will, located next door to Bank, or my Merchant Tailoring store, near M. E. Church. With the latter I will sell the building, known as the old Masonic building, at a bargain. This is a good opportunity for a live business man, to engage in a well known and established trade.

A number of good lots for sale, located near my tailoring establishment, at low price. These lots are located in the centre of Emporium on Fourth Street, the Main business street.

We will talk business to only business men.
